Iron Woods Dark Red Balau is a beautiful and exceptionally durable hardwood specie that is preferred by deck builders for it's strength, extra hard density and high oil content. These superior properties make it ideal in withstanding extreme weather conditions. Dark Red Balau has superior durability and physical properties when compared to other species in the Mahogany/Meranti family of woods.

Iron Woods Dark Red Balau is a tropical species and native to Southeast Asia. It is highly resistant to shrinkage, splintering, checking, decay, rot and insect infestation.
